24/7 Support

Our support packages can offer around-the-clock support, a necessity for many organisations.

Our professional services team and service desk consist of over 200 technical individuals who are on hand to provide you with the necessary support as and when you need it. Our remote support portal allows us to connect to your network and resolve issues in a matter of minutes. For any issues that cannot be resolved remotely, our technicians will visit your premises and resolve the issue in person.

Pool of Knowledge

At Altodigital looking after our customers is key, and our technicians are highly qualified, experienced and MCSA or MCSE accredited.

Regular scheduled visits enable our customers to form strong working relationships with their designated technician. Many have commented on how the technician's personal attention results in increased user knowledge and reduced 'computer rage' among their staff.
